Earn your degree with Columbia College!
Columbia College is a private, nonprofit institution that’s been around since 1851. Students look to us when:
• They need a quality, accredited degree but not the debt that often comes with it (who doesn't). Our tuition is half the national average* and financial aid may also be available to help manage costs and minimize debt.
• They need the flexibility of evening and online classes to fit school around their schedule.
• They need their degree fast: like three and a half years for a bachelor’s fast or 20 months for an associate.
• Going back to school seems daunting, but less so with small classes, accessible professors and free tutoring services to help with coursework.

Let’s talk about how we can help you earn your degree.

What you’ll learn

You’ll cover a range of areas, like working with families, individuals, groups and communities, plus public policy, child welfare, mental health and many others.

You’ll also have the option to take elective courses in the human services area in which you’d ultimately like to work. The goal of each human services program is to help you develop the empirically-based knowledge and practical skills necessary to make a difference in the field.

The bachelor’s program will also prepare you for graduate school if that is your goal.
