These figures were sourced from the Bureau of Labor Statistics, (U.S. Department of Labor, Occupational Outlook Handbook, 2016-17 Edition, BLS.gov/OOH) and represent the 2016 median pay for these occupations nationally. Earning your degree does not guarantee that you will earn these amounts.

Earn your degree with Columbia College!

Columbia College is a private, nonprofit institution that’s been around since 1851. Students look to us when:

• They need a quality, accredited degree but not the debt that often comes with it (who does?). Our tuition is half the national average* and financial aid may also be available to help manage costs and minimize debt.
• They need the flexibility of evening and online classes to fit school around their schedule.
• They need their degree fast, like three and a half years for a bachelor’s fast or 20 months for an associate.
• Going back to school seems daunting, but less so with small classes, accessible professors and free tutoring services to help with coursework.

Let’s talk about how we can help you earn your degree. Call, email or start by applying today!

Study History
Maybe you’re fascinated by World War II and the profound impact it had on our world, or perhaps you love to read about the history of the United States.
Whatever your historical interest, the subject tackles the essentials: Who are we? How did we get here? Why are things the way they are?
From a career perspective, a history degree develops a set of skills that are essential to success in the workplace, including research, writing, reading, speaking, analysis, critical thinking and problem-solving skills.
Columbia College offers a Bachelor of Arts in History degree.

What you’ll learn
You’ll take courses in historical research and methods, world civilization, history of American business, women and gender studies, twentieth century Europe, modern Japan, World War II, imperial Russia and many others.
In addition, you can choose electives in one of the following areas:
• United States history
• European history
• World history
